

Stakeholder Interview Transcript

Questions

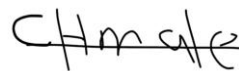

1. How is a funeral arrangement handled from first contact to burial?
2. What problems are experienced with the current paper diaries?
3. Which issue causes the greatest operational bottleneck?
4. What features should bereaved families see on the mobile app?
5. What administrative tools do staff need on the web portal?
6. How are burial society policies and premium payments verified?
7. What daily schedule reports do drivers and mortuary staff need?
8. What data privacy considerations apply to customer records?

Answers

1. The family calls our landline or comes in person. We write all details in a paper diary. We confirm the date, then call burial society to verify membership. On the day, driver and mortuary staff check the diary. After burial we file the papers in a box.
2. Big problems . We lose diary sometimes. We have double bookings because too staff write at once. We can not search old clients. If a family calls at night we cannot check prices.
3. Phone calls. We get 20 to 30 calls everyday asking "How much is a coffin?" "Are you free on Saturday?". One person must sit and answer phones instead of helping families.
4. They must see our service packages and prices. They must book a funeral online. They must check if the burial society is active. They must see address, directions and contact us on WhatsApp. No need to call at 2am.
5. We need a dashboard to see all bookings. Calendar for drivers and mortuary. We need to track payments and burial society premiums. We need to print invoices and daily reports. We need to add / edit accounts.
6. Right now we phone the burial society office and wait 1 to 2 days for reply. Sometimes they don't answer. We need the system to check status online automatically.
7. Every morning they need a list. Name of deceased, pickup time, pickup address, church and cemetery. They also need vehicle assigned and contact person. Printed or on their phones.
8. Customer ID numbers, cause of death, and family contact details are private. Only admin and owner must see full details. Staff must login with password. We must comply with POPIA because it is sensitive information.

Stakeholder Sign-Off

Project Manager